

REDESIGNING PEDAGOGY INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE

31 May – 2 June 2017
Singapore

Education for the Future: Creativity, Innovation, Values

In the new era of connectivity, we are witnessing rapid economic, societal and global transformations that are unfolding at an unprecedented pace. The brave new world is both promising and challenging for our younger generation. The best way of handing the future to our children is to equip them with the right dispositions, values and skills to live in as well as to shape the future - their future.

How would educators inspire to create learning environments in schools where an entrepreneurial dare is encouraged, and students can become innovators and path-blazers who can create value for society, as well as nurture and strengthen social cohesion and inclusion?

Come and discover at the Redesigning Pedagogy International Conference 2017.

This conference provides a global platform for practitioners, researchers, educational leaders and policymakers to interact, share leading-edge research and best practices across schools and cultures.

Submission of abstracts for paper sessions, workshops and symposia is now open.
